

Emma ZIANI

Policy Analyst and IP Security Associate

emma.ziani@sciencespo.fr

SUMMARY

Dedicated policy analyst with a Master's in European Affairs from Sciences Po Paris and 3+ years of experience in intellectual property management and policy development. Skilled in research, data analysis, and cross-cultural communication. Seeking to leverage expertise in international relations and security to contribute to conflict prevention and resolution efforts.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

TKG 태광, Gimhae, South Korea

IP Security Associate (Nike Intellectual Property), January 2023–Present

- Safeguarded Nike's intellectual assets by implementing robust security measures
- Coordinated with cross-functional teams to enhance IP protection strategies
- Conducted thorough assessments and audits to identify and mitigate potential security risks
- Developed and enforced company-wide IP policies, improving compliance by 25%

Sciences Po Incubateur de Politiques Publiques, Paris, France

Policy Analyst (Project-based)), January 2020–September 2020)

- Co-authored comprehensive policy proposal for minimizing ecological impact of 2024 Paris Olympics
- Conducted extensive research on environmental impacts of large-scale sporting events
- Collaborated with diverse stakeholders, including government officials and environmental experts

EDUCATION

SciencesPo Grenoble, Grenoble, France

PhD in History, Political Science and Religious studies, September 2024 to May 2027

- Supervised by Pr. Olivier Ihl and Pr. Donald Baker
- Focused on research, policy analysis
- Working on the role of religion in spreading nationalist consciousness in Korea during the Japanese occupation

SciencesPo Paris, France

Masters in European Affairs, (concentration: Security and Defense), September 2019 to May 2021

- Included courses on public defense policies, security questions, and crisis simulation
- Developed skills in analysis of international security issues, understanding of geopolitical systems and conflicts, strategic thinking and defense economics, crisis management and conflict resolution, policy formulation in security and defense, practical knowledge of cybersecurity challenges

LYCEE CCHAMPOLLION, Grenoble, France

Bachelor of Humanities (concentration: languages), September 2016 to June 2019

- Admitted to the Paris-Saclay ENS, ISIT, Grenoble IEP, SciencesPo Paris, admissible to HEC

ADDITIONAL SKILLS

- Bilingual in English, Spanish, French, Korean and intermediate in Arabic.
- Research, Policy Analysis and Development, Cross-cultural Communication
- Volunteered with APF (Association des Paralysés de France) and PSCORE (tutoring North Koreans refugees) and odd jobs in the service industry (bakeries and supermarkets), with STMicroelectronics